Informed Decisions, Smart Solutions

Our industry is all about change. Supplies vary. Markets fluctuate. We excel at finding creative solutions to manage these challenges and reduce risk for our suppliers and customers. With locally managed offices in key areas of the world, we are accessible and able to make quick and informed decisions around the clock. We provide consistent quality at the right price, where and when you need it.

Around the Globe, Around the Plate

It's easy to do business with AJC International. For our manufacturing, wholesale, distribution and retail customers, we provide a wide variety of frozen and fresh poultry, meat, pork, vegetable and fruit products to meet local needs. With decades of experience in each product category, as well as an outstanding logistics team, we're a one-stop shop.

For our suppliers – growers, producers and processors – we serve as a global marketing arm, developing markets for their products around the world. Because we know market and consumer trends, we can suggest new products and new product uses to help drive demand.

Both our customers and our suppliers trust us to do what's right for them operationally and financially. In fact, some of our key partners have formed strategic alliances with us to serve as their sole international marketing arm for export or procurement, knowing that we are capable of managing these key functions with their best interests in mind.

AJC has streamlined our export process, helping us increase inventory turn. AJC's worldwide coverage and broad customer base has also helped us find the best markets for our products.

Products You Want When You Want Them

Excellence. Quality. Innovation. You're looking for just the right product for your market. We help you gain that competitive edge.

Reaching Global Markets Fulfilling Your Needs

Access. Insight. Expertise. These are the qualities you want in an international business partner. These are the advantages we deliver worldwide.

You need a partner you can count on. At AJC International, we are proud of our client relationships, built on years of carefully listening to our suppliers and customers and developing programs specifically to meet their needs. We have been recognized internationally for our excellence in exporting and have been honored with the United States Secretary of Commerce E Star Award for our outstanding performance.

Our Brands Mean Business

AJC International is not only a leader in commodity food products, we are also a leader in branded food products. For two decades we have provided wholesalers, distributors and retailers with innovative, packaged poultry, further-processed meats, frozen potatoes and vegetables, giving our suppliers and customers excellent opportunities for market expansion and brand identity.

Our brands — Golden Phoenix, Mity Fresh, Early Dawn, Garden Maid, Del Campo and Amerifoods — are tightly quality-controlled by our own in-house team. Our packages are professionally designed and tailored for markets around the world, featuring your local language for convenience and appeal.

The Right Place at the Right Time

In our business, there's nothing more important than getting products from source to destination efficiently, on time and in the proper condition. But given the complexities of international commerce, logistics can be challenging. It takes experience, quick thinking and creativity to overcome the many obstacles that stand in the way of smooth delivery. Our dedicated team of multilingual logistics experts understands each country's documentation and health requirements. Along with our products, we deliver peace of mind. Our clients know they can depend on us.

AJC's brand reputation makes their products easy to sell. Their knowledge of the region and accurate market forecasting helps us stay on top of our game.
